

MAAT – Museum of Art, Architecture and Technology

Innovation allied to culture

The MAAT is a new cultural space with contemporary and international programming.

This new building, located next to the electricity museum and within the 38,000m2 campus that the EDP Foundation occupies on the Tejo River, has the signature of the British architect Amanda Levete.

Sotécnica was responsible for the electrical installation of the entire museum, as well as telecommunications, CCTV systems, centralized technical management system and HVAC system.

Sotécnica was also awarded with the management services and multi-technical maintenance services.
